MILK CHAMPION GET OUT PRUNING
TO BE AT SHOW KNIFE ON TREES

Segis Pieterle Prospect, Twice
Over 36,000 Milk, to Be at National.

Milwaukee, Wis.—The world's greatest producing cow is coming to the National Dairy Exposition at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis., Sept. 27-30. The cow, Segis Pieterle, a prospect, has given more milk over a period of twelve months than any other cow in the world. She will be one of the big features of the daily exposition, when it opens its doors at the State Fair grounds on Sept. 27.

"Prospect," as the animal is familiarly known, has established an all-time milk record by producing 36,000 pounds of milk a year, for 126 consecutive days. This is equivalent to better than 45 quarts of milk each day for that period.

A Special Trip.
The animal is the property of the Carver Dairy Farm, Seattle, Wash. It has never been exhibited away from its home, and the special trip to the National Dairy Exposition is being made in order that the dairy industry and all others interested may actually see this cow, and what good breeding and feeding can accomplish. A world's production record has never been exhibited at a national show.

A special car will carry this queen of the dairy world from the Seattle coast to Milwaukee, at a cost of $500. The cow will be exhibited at points along the line of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, over which the trip will be made. Immediately after the close of the exposition, Prospect will be taken directly back to the Seattle farm.

The bringing of Prospect to the National exposition is being done by one of the greatest stockmen ever made. The animal exhibited at the "world's greatest" producing cow, to be shown by every visitor to the big dairy show, is a lesson in itself, they assert. County agents all over the country have been called to bring their dairymen, and to bring all farmers and breeders possible to Milwaukee to see this animal.

A Show Feature.
Prospect's value, from a monetary standpoint, is something that has never been determined. An idea of the type of this cow may be obtained from the price paid for three cows at public auction for $27,000 each, or a total of over $80,000 for the three. The animal is held in a type of good breeding for production.

The exhibition of Segis Pieterle Prospect is one of the great things for the dairy industry," declared Dr. W. E. Skinner, of the National Dairy Exposition. "It is a fine time to actually see this cow. Every county agent ought to line up every cow available in his section, and bring him to come to Milwaukee to see Prospect. It will be one of the greatest features of the great dairy show ever held."

Orchardist Has Best Opportunity
Now to Detect Defects
in His Trees.

Now while the fruit is on the tree, is the time to look over the trees, to see where they need pruning, and to detect defects in the fruit, says C. E. Kuehner, fruit extension specialist of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture. While the fruit is on the tree, the place where the tree should be pruned when dormant can be marked out.

Kuehner states that the branches which are bearing no fruit may be detected. Those that have borne fruit can also be spotted before the fruit is picked.

"These are the parts which should be pruned," he declares. "The best time for pruning is while the fruit is on the tree. It is possible now to see the defects in the fruit which are making heavy dense growth and the parts which are doing good work."

Kuehner says that the defects in the fruit should be pruned to open it up, and the work should be done back to make it grow denser.

Elkhorn Couple
Escapes Injury

Elkhorn, Wis.—Charles A. Jahn, superintendent of Elkhorn city schools, and Mrs. Jahn, escaped unhurt from an automobile accident on Saturday night.

They were returning from Milwaukee and East Troy when a machine driven by a farmer, employed by C. C. Randolph of East Troy, passed the Jahn car and swerved sharply onto a side road. The car, which was a 1924 model, turned over on its side, trapping the Jahn couple in the wreck.

Mr. and Mrs. Jahn were thrown through the top of their car and did not suffer even a scratch, despite the many reports of serious injuries. The car was completely wrecked.

Morris of Milwaukee. About 200 farmers and business men attended the smoker.

"The second of a series given by Walworth business men," declared Senator Morris, "will come on the 29th of this month. It is a chance to show the people of the state what the business men of Walworth have to say for themselves."

Senator Morris complimented Walworth country for its showing in the recent primary election and expressed the wish that all other counties in the state were as loyal as Walworth.

LA FOLLETTE LEADS
IN NORTH DAKOTA

Regular Republicans Will Put
Up Strong Battle for Cal,
However.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1924, The Janesville Gazette—Special Correspondence to the Janesville Gazette.

Farro, N. D.—Were the election to be held tomorrow, and that's about the most accurate basis for calculation thus early, the state of North Dakota would elect its electoral vote for Senator Robert M. La Follette for president.

The "real republicans," as the wing of the republican party which is fighting the non-partisan league style themselves, will not concede the triumph of La Follette, however, on election day. They insist that with the proper aid from the republican national organization there is still a chance to carry this state for President Coolidge.

Many things are happening which might make such an outcome probable as the campaign strategy of all concerned is unfolded. For one thing it is charged, though vehemently denied, that the conservative democrats have entered into a formal understanding to abandon Davis and support Coolidge so as to be sure and keep the state's vote from going to La Follette.

It is significant that very little is being said either for or against La Follette by the Coolidge supporters. Nothing is being done to stir up feeling on the national ticket. The tactics of conservatism in North Dakota may of times seem unique, but then North Dakota has a unique problem with the non-partisan league. For example, the senate vote of 1922, which elected Senator La Follette, was actually a tie between the non-partisan league and the conservative type who are said to have had funds from friends of Coolidge.

What possible object would they have in supporting La Follette? They thought they would beat Hiram Johnson and cutting down his strength would carry the state in the primaries for Coolidge. And it was important for those days for Coolidge.

to carry North Dakota if it was ultimately possible to do so. About 10,000 voters wrote their names on stickers, but it is considered that much of the money for these stickers came from Coolidge men. In an analysis of the primary vote in which Coolidge received 52,512 while Johnson received 32,633 and La Follette 16,222, it is fair to assume that some of the vote that went to both Johnson and La Follette will now go to Coolidge.

The La Follette supporters claim they are not making an active campaign, but they say the Wisconsin leader will pull almost as many votes as Coolidge and Davis combined.

Just now the Coolidge campaign is held up by a mixup over the placing of Coolidge electors on the ballot. In a recent meeting of the non-partisan league and the "real republicans" it was agreed by the former that the four La Follette electors whose names would ordinarily go on the ballot under the name of Coolidge because they won in the primary would resign and that five bona fide Coolidge electors would be chosen.

The hesitancy of the non-partisan league to bring about these resignations has caused much comment and a suit may be started to adjust the matter. The league says they will carry out their agreement and give the Coolidge electors their rightful place on the ballot, as was done in Wisconsin, but they do not want the La Follette electors placed in an "Individual Nominations" where their candidates would be listed. This situation ultimately will be straightened out but it is just now holding up the Coolidge campaign.

Wisconsin Taxes
Are Too High

EVERY citizen, whether a property owner or not, is a stockholder in Wisconsin. As such, he should learn the facts about taxes, because part of the cost of government comes out of his pocket. We all know that taxes are high for everybody. Tax burdens can be reduced if we adopt a program of:

1. Economy in Government, State, County, Local.
2. Spread the tax load by increasing property values through the promotion of agriculture and industry.
3. Solve tax problems by economic facts and not politics.

What Wisconsin needs is not higher taxes on any person or class, but lower taxes for all. The way to solve our tax problem is to cut the burden and not shift it onto industry.

Wisconsin industry now pays higher taxes than in any other industrial state. Special taxes on corporations in Wisconsin are twice as high as in Michigan, four times as high as in Ohio and twelve times as high as in Illinois.

Indiana, Iowa and Minnesota do not levy any special corporation tax. These are nearly competitive states. All Wisconsin industry asks of our people is a square deal, so that it can hold its own in competition with 47 other states of the Union.

Wisconsin Manufacturers are placing these facts before the people so that we can all work together in promoting better conditions in agriculture and industry. This will mean prosperity for every citizen.

OLD ENTRANCE TO RIVERSIDE CLOSED

Traffic Must Follow New Road Starting Half Mile North of Limits.

Entrance to Riverside park the next few weeks will be only by the new road built from the end of the old road to the city limits, on the north side of the city, down through a long ravine to the pavilion and picnic grounds. This announcement, effective immediately, was made Monday by Street Engineer Joseph Lustig as he started a force of men at work rebuilding the old entrance road beginning at the end of the street car line and proceeding east under the railroad viaduct.

The old road will be widened, graded, repaved and surfaced with gravel. While this is being done it will be necessary to close it to traffic and direct all cars entering the park to the road leading off the Evansville concrete highway to the municipal golf links.

Through a heavily wooded tract, almost impossible to a hiker, a north side city workers have built a wide and well graded road, winding through one of the most picturesque sections of the park.

Although this road is not yet completed, it is suitable for travel in dry weather, Mr. Lustig said. Later it will be surfaced with gravel but until then it will be used in its present condition. It was thought best to defer the gravel work until the city's dump trucks are available to haul from the pit, and they will not be ready for duty for several weeks on account of other jobs.

The street engineer said it will be necessary to remove some of the power poles along the road, thus cutting the park off from electrical service for some time.

On the new road from the end of the old road to the city limits, a new road has been provided at one point by the laying of 56 feet of 54-inch concrete pipe left over from the Eastern avenue storm sewer job.

GASTON MEANS SAYS HE LIED IN HIS TESTIMONY

Mr. Daugherty just before I took the stand.

The reputation begins by saying that, while in Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 5, 1924, Means received word from his wife in Washington that Senator Wheeler, prosecutor of the investigating committee, through a close friend had requested to see him.

Means saw Mr. Wheeler, he says, and learned the only evidence Mr. Wheeler had was a record in regard to bringing into Washington of the Dempsey-Carpenter fight film.

"At a conference with Senator Wheeler it was agreed that I was to assist him in the investigation of the attorney general and the department of justice in the way of furnishing evidence, examination and concluding of witnesses, etc.," the document says.

"Wheeler grew desperate in his efforts to find some evidence on which he could base charges against the administration and the department of justice, saying he was working with Senator Wheeler and had certain plans in view that made it imperative that he make good in connection with his public statement as to the conditions in the department of justice and that the department be connected with the alleged scandals.

"These facts and what was going on in Senator Wheeler's office, and that an effort was being made to frame Mr. Daugherty, were reported to me by Mr. Wheeler, the witness property custodian, an official and personal friend of Mr. Daugherty, with the request that he give this information to Mr. Daugherty. Col. Miller reported back that Mr. Daugherty said that it would be impossible for anybody to successfully frame him and that he had no intention of being framed about what was going on in Senator Wheeler's office.

"Means worked both. However, Col. Miller, understanding the more of the details, requested that the efforts to secure this information not be dropped but be referred to him, which I did from day to day.

"In the meantime Senator Wheeler had secured some of the copies of the letters that Jesse Smith had written to Reggie Shugart, and with these letters as a basis, allowed them to be read in a way that was never intended on the part of Jesse Smith, and interpreted in a different way.

"Such letters were used as the basis for the frameup, Mr. Wheeler taking the position that he was forced to connect Jesse Smith and Edward Manning and others dishonestly with Mr. Daugherty, all the while saying in his possession (and he has now the original statements taken from underworld characters and colleagues that not at any time did they hear that Mr. Daugherty or his acquaintances were involved in any fraudulent transactions, Senator Wheeler suppressed such information and would not allow any witnesses who applied for statements and information showing that Mr. Daugherty was not involved in any fraudulent matter to testify.

"Means' angry. I would the time I took the stand in the investigation I understood that I would seek information as to how Senator Wheeler was going to be and on the day before I took the stand I received information that Mr. Daugherty said I could go to Belgium as he was concerned. Except for this message I would not have taken the stand the day I did but would have stalled the situation.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

JANESVILLE, Sept. 19.

Editor, Gazette:

Anyone reading your account of the violation of the traffic ordinance at the intersection of Main and Milwaukee streets in Thursday's edition, by me, would think that I was drunk or crazy. I did not drive on the north side of the mushroom light onto North Main street.

The fact is that I drove from West Milwaukee street and turned the right to go north on Main from the south side. As all three witnesses testified, I was driving from four to six miles an hour on the street. I slowed down to let a car going west on Milwaukee street get by and when I started to cross the north crossing on Main street, a woman had started across Main street from Ziegler's corner. I thought she would stop and let me over but she kept right on going and when she was about 5 or 10 feet in front of me I made a quick turn to the left and passed over the crossing about three feet in front of her, as she stopped, when I made the turn.

This brought me onto the intersection tracks with the officer stopped me and wanted to know what I was going to do, run over people I told him I was trying to avoid running over them. "What are you over here for, you are on the wrong side of the street," he said. "The right hand wheels were in between the rails."

His testimony showed I was four feet west of the track. Joe Burns said I was about two feet, and John Henzley said I was inside the west rail.

They all agreed in their testimony that I was driving carefully on Milwaukee street and not recklessly, as charged.

When the case was called, Judge Alexander advised me to plead guilty and pay the costs, which would let me off easy, but I did not want the charge of reckless driving against me, so I asked for a trial.

As I was alone in the car and had no witnesses with three against me, I was convicted, but not of reckless driving as charged, but for being on the wrong side of Main street. I could not report a case any better than your reporter did. I quit and got a job in the June, said there all this would need would be a strong back and a weak mind.

Don't make the case worse than it is.

Yours for fair play,

GEORGE SCHALLER, 408 Lima St.

This is the article of which Mr. Schaller complains. (Ed. Gazette.) Patrolman Lee, Sherwood, Joseph Burns and John Henzley testified that the car in the case against George S. Schaller, declaring he drove on the left side of the intersection of East Milwaukee and North Main streets north of the mushroom light and west in front of a woman and two children who were crossing North Main street, narrowly escaping striking them, Mr. Schaller admitted driving in front of the pedestrians, but denied he was as far over on the wrong side of North Main street as the city contended. He said he was traveling only 6 to 8 miles an hour. The offense occurred last Sunday.

Davis is full of biting sarcasm. Referring to Mr. Davis' statement, Mr. Schaller, he writes: "It would seem but proper that, before you lend the powerful influence of your position as a former president of the Janesville Bar Association and as a presidential candidate to the spreading of slanderous reports upon me and the department of justice with which you were once connected, you would have made sure of your grounds by examining into the sources of these slanders, weighing the evidence, so-called, and learning all the crooked ramifications connected with that alleged investigation. I am convinced, however, that you have no knowledge of the record in this matter."

MILK CHAMPION GET OUT PRUNING TO BE AT SHOW KNIFE ON TREES

Segis Pietertje Prospect, Twice
Over 36,000 Milk, to Be
at National.

Milwaukee, Wis. — The world's greatest producing cow is coming to the National Dairy show.

Segis Pietertje Prospect, which has given more milk over a period of twelve months than any other cow
in the world, will be one of the big features of the daily exposition,
when it opens its doors at the State Fair park here on Sept. 27.

"Prospect," as the animal is famously known, has established an all-time milking record by producing 36,000 pounds of milk a year, for two consecutive years. This is equivalent to better than 45 quarts of milk each day for that period.

A Special Trip.
The animal is the property of the Carnegie Milk Farm, Seattle, Wash.
It has never been exhibited away
from its home, and the special trip to the National Dairy exposition is being made in order that the dairy industry and all others interested may actually see this cow, and what good breeding and feeding can accomplish. A world's production champion has never been exhibited
at a national show.

A special car will carry this queen of the dairy world from the Pacific coast to Milwaukee, at a cost of nearly $600. The cow will be exhibited at points along the line of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, over which the trip will be made. Immediately after the close of the exposition, Prospect will be taken directly back to the Seattle
farm.

The bringing of Prospect to the National exposition is termed by officials as one of the greatest strokes ever made. The actual exhibition of the "world's greatest producing cow" to be viewed by every visitor to the big dairy classic, is a lesson in itself, they assert. County agents all over the country have been urged to bring their delegations, and to bring all farmers and breeders possible to Milwaukee to see this animal.

A Show Feature.
Prospect's value, from a monetary standpoint, is something that has never been determined. An idea of the value of this cow may be obtained from the price paid for three milk cows borne by her. One was sold at public auction for $27,100.
Two others brought nearly $20,000 each, or a total of over $65,000 for the three. The animal is held in a type of good breeding for production.

"The exhibition of Segis Pietertje Prospect is one of the finest things
for the dairy industry," declared Col. W. E. Skinner, of the National Dairy Exposition. "It is a life time event for every farmer and breeder to actually see this cow. Every county agent ought to be up everyone possible in his section, and urge him to come to Milwaukee to see Prospect. It will be one of the outstanding features of the greatest dairy show ever held."

Orchardist Has Best Opportu- nity Now to Detect Defects in His Trees.

Now while the fruit is on the tree is the time to look over the trees to see where they need pruning.
"If the orchardist waits until the fruit is off he cannot see where the trees need pruning," says C. L.
Kuehner, fruit extension specialist
of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture. "While the fruit is on the tree
the places where the tree should be pruned when dormant can be marked easily."

Kuehner states that the branches
which are bearing no fruit may now be detected. Those that have interior fruit can also be spotted before the fruit is picked.
"These are the parts which should be pruned off," declares this horticulturist, "the best time for pruning is while the trees are dormant, between Nov. 1 and May 1. These dates apply to all fruit trees."

Besides the fruit bearing parts being noted, it is possible to see the sections of the trees which are making heavy dense growth and the parts making dense open growth.
Kuehner says that the fruit dense growth should be pruned to open it up, and the weak growing wood should be pruned back to make it grow denser.

Elkhorn Couple Escapes Injury

Elkhorn—Charles A. Jahn, superintendent of Elkhorn city schools, and Mrs. Jahn, escaped unscathed from an automobile accident a few miles from East Troy Saturday night.

They were returning from Milwaukee and were between Milwaukee and East Troy when a machine driven by a farmhand, employed
by C. C. Randolph of East Troy, passed the Jahn car and swerved suddenly onto a side road. The rear wheels locked with the front ones of the Jahn machine, turning the latter over in the ditch.

Mr. and Mrs. Jahn were thrown through the top of their car and did not suffer even a scratch, despite many reports circulated in Elkhorn Sunday that brought numerous queries concerning their condition.

LUECK WILL OPEN DRIVE AT KENOSHA

Judge to Tour Walworth and Rock Counties During Week.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Madison—Political activity in Wisconsin is expected to take on a new impetus this week, with political conventions over and alignments drawn for the final lap of the 1924 political race. Political observers here do not expect the campaign for the general election to be as split as the primary, but reports indicate opposition will be keen.

Judge Martin Lueck, democratic substantial candidate, will appear in Kenosha to make an extended tour, according to present reports, through the southern part of the state, then swing to the western and northern parts. He will tour Walworth and Rock counties tomorrow and Wednesday.

Governor Blaine has laid aside political topics for this week and is enjoying a hunt in the northern part of the state with a party of state officials. No definite plans have been laid out for the executive's campaign. It is said by his managers that he will show little activity during the remainder of the campaign.
A number of independent candidates are expected to bob up against registered candidates before the election is over. All persons have until Oct. 4
to file as independent candidates.

Veteran Motorman on Janesville Run

Gus Ring, veteran motorman of the Rockford and Interurban company, whose service dates back to the days

stead of the controller stopped the street car, is now a regular visitor
in Janesville.

Mr. Ring has taken charge of one tween Rockford and Janesville, for the next six months. He has traveled close to 1,000,000 miles on a street car and is the oldest veteran em-

Senator Boosts Greater Wisconsin

Using the formation of a Chamber of Commerce or an advancement association; advocating business men taking an interest in clean politics and boosting the state chamber of commerce, were some of the points brought out in an address today night by Senator Orest H. Morris of Milwaukee. About 200 farmers and business men attended the smoker,
the second of a series given by Walworth business men.

"Walworth should have a chamber of commerce," declared Senator Morris. "Or some organization to boost the town and aid its farmers and business men. Then too, Walworth should take an interest in the proposed Greater Wisconsin Association, of which J. A. Craig of Janesville is president."

Senator Morris complimented Walworth county for its showing in the recent primary election and expressed the wish that all other counties in the state were as loyal as Walworth.
"It is up to the business man to take an interest in politics," said the senator. "Efforts should be made to get high class and honest men to run for office and only through such methods can the people of the state expect honest administration and fair play."

Senator Morris has been one of the leaders of the conservative republicans in the legislature and as one of the officials of the Milwaukee Association of Commerce has been assisting materially in the state organization.

BETTER DRAINAGE FACILITIES NEEDED ON WALKER STREET

With that block of Walker street
west of Yuba street several inches above grade, ditches have been dug along the sides to provide temporary drainage for the intersection of Walker and Yuba streets where a large pool of water accumulated in the rain storm of Friday night. It may be necessary to order in curb and gutter on this block in order to alleviate the trouble. City Manager Henry Traxler and Street Engineer Joseph Lundis said after making an inspection of the place Saturday. Walker street has been paved from Garfield avenue to Yuba street, and the condition responsible for the trouble exists on the unpaved section.

LA FOLLETTE LEADS IN NORTH DAKOTA

Regular Republicans Will Put
Up Strong Battle for Cal,
However.

(BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1924, by the Janesville
Gazette—Special Correspondence
to the Janesville Gazette.)

Fargo, N. D.—Where the election to be held tomorrow, and that's about the most accurate basis for calculation thus early, the state of North Dakota would cast its electoral vote for Senator Robert M. La Follette for president.

The "real republicans," as the wing of the republican party which is fighting the non-partisan league
style themselves, will not concede
the triumph of La Follette, however, on election day. They insist that with the proper aid from the republican national organization there is still a chance to carry this state for President
Coolidge.

Many things are happening which might make such an outcome probable as the campaign strategy of all concerned is unfolded. For one thing it is charged, though vehemently denied, that the conservative democrats have entered into a formal understanding to abandon Davis and support Coolidge so as to be sure and keep the state's vote from going to La Follette. The argument employed is that the democrats will be throwing away their votes if they vote for Davis and that they will help the fusion state ticket of conservative republicans and democrats by supporting Coolidge.

Republicans Support Democrat
An unusual situation exists here in that the democratic nominee for governor has the open endorsement and support of the "real republicans" because they want to defeat the regular republican nominee for governor who is sponsored by the non-partisan league. The latter is out working for La Follette. The non-partisan league has pronounced the fusion to be part of an effort of their opponents to win the state ticket and at the same time carry the state for Coolidge.

National Ticket Let Alone

It is significant that very little is being said either for or against Davis
by the Coolidge supporters. Nothing is being done to stir up feeling on the national ticket. The tactics of conservatives in North Dakota may at times seem unique, but then North Dakota has a unique problem with the non-partisan league. For example, the outside world may not know that Senator La Follette was actually aided in the presidential preference primary by republicans of the conservative type who are said to have had funds from friends of Coolidge.
What possible object would they have in supporting La Follette? They thought they would beat William Johnson and settle down to his strength would carry the state in the primaries for Coolidge. And it was important in those days for Coolidge

to carry North Dakota if it was humanly possible to do so.
About 40,000 voters wrote their names on stickers, but it is conceded that much of the money for these stickers came from Coolidge men. So in analyzing the primary vote in which Coolidge received 52,815 while Johnson received 22,623 and La Follette 40,252, it is fair to assume that some of the vote that went to both Johnson and La Follette will now go to Coolidge.

The La Follette supporters claim
they are not making an active campaign but they say the Wisconsin
leader will pull almost as many votes
as Coolidge and Davis combined.

Coolidge Electors
Just now the Coolidge campaign is held up by a mixup over the placing of Coolidge electors on the ballot. In a recent meeting of the non-partisan league and the "real republicans" it was agreed by the former that the four La Follette electors whose names would ordinarily go on the ballot under the name of Coolidge because they won in the primaries would resign and the five bona fide Coolidge electors would be chosen.

May Go to Court
The hesitancy of the non-partisan league in bringing about these resignations has caused much comment and a suit may be started to adjust the matter. The league says they will carry out their agreement and give the Coolidge electors their rightful place on the ballot, as was done in Wisconsin, but they do not want the La Follette electors placed in an independent column but in the list of "Individual Nominations" where their candidates for state officers will be listed. This situation ultimately will be straightened out but it is just now holding up the Coolidge campaign.

LIBRARY WORKER TO GO TO CLEVELAND

Miss Elsie Howe, a member of the staff of the public library here, has resigned to accept a place at

It has been announced by Mrs. H.

weeks. Mrs. Harry S. Fox will fill the vacancy until action is taken by date for office cannot be barred from having his name printed on the official ballot because he did not file

Wisconsin Taxes Are Too High

EVERY citizen, whether a property owner or not, is a stockholder in Wisconsin. As such, he should learn the facts about taxes, because part of the cost of government comes out of his pocket. We all know that taxes are high for everybody. Tax burdens can be reduced if we adopt a program of:

1. Economy in Government, State, County, Local.
2. Spread the tax load by increasing property values through the promotion of agriculture and industry.
3. Solve tax problems by economic facts and not politics.

What Wisconsin needs is not higher taxes on any person or class, but lower taxes for all.
The way to solve our tax problem is to cut the burden and not shift it onto industry.

Wisconsin industry now pays higher taxes than in any other industrial state.

Special taxes on corporations in Wisconsin are twice as high as in Michigan, four times as high as in Ohio and twelve times as high as in Illinois.

Indiana, Iowa and Minnesota do not levy any special corporation
tax. These are nearby competitive states.

All Wisconsin industry asks of our people is a square deal, so that it can hold its own in competition with 47 other states of the Union.

Wisconsin Manufacturers are placing these facts before the people so that we can all work together in promoting better conditions in agriculture and industry. This will mean prosperity for every citizen.

OLD ENTRANCE TO RIVERSIDE CLOSED

Traffic Must Follow New Road Starting Half Mile North of Limits.

Entrance to Riverside park the new road built by the city, one-half mile north of the city limits, down through a long ravine to the pavilion and picnic grounds. This announcement, effective immediately, was made Monday by Street Engineer Joseph Lustig as he started a force of men at work rebuilding the old entrance road beginning at the end of the street, on line and proceeding east under the railroad viaduct.

The old road will be widened, resurfaced, and resurfaced with gravel. While this is being done it will be necessary to close it to traffic and direct all cars entering the park to the road leading off the Evansville concrete highway to the municipal golf links.

Through a heavily wooded tract, almost impassable to a hiker a month ago, the city workers have built a wide and well graded road, winding through one of the most picturesque sections of the park.

Although this road is not yet complete it is suitable for travel in dry weather. Mr. Lustig said, later it will be surfaced with gravel but until then it will be used in its present condition. It is not to be used to deliver the gravel work until the city's dump trucks are available to haul from the pit, and they will not be ready for duty for several weeks on account of other jobs.

The street engineer said it will be necessary to remove some of the power poles along the south road, thus cutting the park off from electrical service for some time.

On the new road from the endy house to the pavilion drainage has been provided by means of a line of 12 inch of 24 inch concrete pipe left over from the Eastern avenue storm sewer job.

GASTON MEANS SAYS HE LIES IN HIS TESTIMONY

Mr. Daugherty just before I took the stand.

The reputation begins by saying that, while in Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 8, 1924, Means received word from his wife in Washington that Senator Wheeler, prosecutor of the investigating committee, through a close friend had requested to see him.

Means says Mr. Wheeler, it says, and learned the only evidence Mr. Wheeler had was a record in regard to bringing into Washington of the Dempsey-Carpenter fight.

"At a conference with Senator Wheeler it was agreed that I was to assist him in the investigation of the attorney general and the department of justice in the way of furnishing evidence, examination and coaching of witnesses, etc.," the document says.

"Wheeler grew desperate," Mr. Wheeler grew desperate in his efforts to find some evidence on which he could base charges against the administration and the department of justice, saying he was working with Senator La Follette and had certain plans in view that made it imperative that he be in good connection with his public statement as to the conditions in the department of justice and that the department be connected with the alleged scandal.

"These facts and what was going on in Senator Wheeler's office, and that an effort was being made to frame Mr. Daugherty, were reported to Col. Thomas Miller, the alien property custodian, an official and personal friend of Mr. Daugherty, with the request that he give this information to Mr. Daugherty. Col. Miller reported back that Mr. Daugherty said that it would be impossible for anybody to successfully frame him up and that he did not 'give a damn' about what was going on in Senator Wheeler's office."

Means says Mr. Wheeler, understanding more of the details, requested that the efforts to secure this information not be dropped but he reported to him, which I did from day to day.

"In the meantime Senator Wheeler had secured some of the copies of the letters that Mr. Smith had written to Leslie Stinson, and with these letters as a basis, allowed them to be read in a way that was never intended on the part of Mr. Smith, and interpreted in a different way.

"All such letters were used as the basis for the framing of Mr. Wheeler, taking the position that he was tried to connect with Mr. Smith and Howard Manning and others directly with the Daugherty, all the while having in his possession (and he has now) the original statements taken from underworld characters and bootleggers that not at any time did they hear the Mr. Daugherty or the administration were involved in any fraudulent transactions. Senator Wheeler suppressed such information and would not allow any witnesses who supplied him with statements and information showing that Mr. Daugherty was not involved in any fraudulent matters to testify."

Means says:

"Up until the time I took the stand in the investigation I understood that I would seek information as to what Senator Wheeler was doing, and on the day before I took the stand received information that Mr. Daugherty said I could 'go to hell' for as he was concerned, I was for this message I would not have taken the stand the day I did but would have stalled the situation along."

Mr. Daugherty's letter to Mr.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Janesville, Sept. 19.

Editor, Gazette:

Anyone reading your account of the violation of traffic regulations at the intersection of Main and Milwaukee streets in Thursday's edition, by me, would think that I was drunk or crazy. I did not drive on the north side of the mushroom light onto North Main street.

Officer Sherwood swore, under oath, that I drove onto the intersection from South Main street. Joe Burns said he thought I did. John Heagany said he did not know. So that it would be impossible for me to drive the way you said I did.

The fact is that I drove from West Milwaukee street and turned the light to go north on Main from the south side. As all three witnesses testified, I was driving from four to six miles an hour on the street. I slowed down to let a car going west on Milwaukee street pass by and when I started to cross the north crossing on Main street, a woman had started across Main street west on Milwaukee's corner. I thought she would stop and let me over but she kept right on going and when she was about 5 or 10 feet in front of me I made a quick turn to the left and passed over the crossing about three feet in front of her as she stopped, when I made the turn.

This brought me onto the intersection tracks when the officer stopped me and wanted to know what I was trying to do, run over people? I told him I was trying to avoid running over them. "What are you over here for, you are on the wrong side of the street," he said. The right hand wheels were in between the tracks in his testimony Sherwood said I was four feet west of the track. Joe Burns said I was about two feet, and John Heagany said I was inside the west rail.

They all agreed in their testimony that I was driving carefully on Milwaukee street and not recklessly, as charged.

When the case was called, Judge Marshall advised me to plead guilty and that I could get a fine of $100 or go to jail, but I did not want the charge of reckless driving against me, so refused. As I was alone in the car and had no witnesses with three against me, I was convicted, but not of reckless driving as charged, but for being on the wrong side of Main street. If I could not report a case any better than your reporter, and I'd quit and get a job in the junk yard, where all that I would need would be a strong back and a wheelbarrow.

Don't make the case worse than it is.

Yours for fair play.

GEORGE SCHALLER, 408 Linn St.

This is the article of which Mr. Schaller complains—Ed. Gazette.

Patrolman Lee Sherwood, Joseph Burns and John Heagany testified for the city in the case against George S. Schaller, declaring he drove on the left side of the intersection of East Milwaukee and North Main streets north of the mushroom light and west in front of a woman and two children who were crossing North Main street, narrowly escaping striking them. Mr. Schaller admitted going in front of the pedestrian but denied he was far over on the wrong side of North Main street as the city contended. He said he was traveling only a few miles an hour. The offense occurred last Sunday.

David is full of biting sarcasm. Referring to Mr. David Buncheon, No. 10, speech, he writes:

"It would seem but proper that, before you lend your powerful influence of your position as a former president of the American Bar Association and as a presidential candidate to the spreading of slanderous reports upon me and the department of justice, with which you were once connected, you would have made sure of your grounds by examining into the sources of these slanders, weighing the evidence, so-called, and learning all the crooked ramifications connected with that alleged investigation. I am convinced, however, that you have no knowledge of the record in this matter."

Conservation of Wealth and Industry in Case of War

Last winter the Gazette had occasion to comment favorably on the plan submitted for the national defense by which, in case there should be war again, not only would the manpower, but the wealth and industry of the country be conscripted. Secretary Weeks at that time gave his approval of the plan. Now the American Legion, in its national convention, has adopted the idea in principle and greater impetus will be given to this method until we have fully accepted it as a thoroughly understood action should we again be forced into war.

The scandals of war are almost always scandals of money. The beginning of treason is in money. Money is the first element in the making of a traitor. Every war has its scandal of profit. Crooked commissary agents have been known for hundreds of years. Men have made profit from war since the days of Darius, when it should be the last possible source of money making.

Inflation values and prices are demoralizing. Stimulated production and the carelessness of expense and in bookkeeping, which follows, is one of the elements we are still investigating. It reaches into years long after the war is over. We want no more "war babies," no more "war profiteers," no more great fortunes made out of war. The largest percentage of such profits come from dishonesty in a greater or lesser degree. Dishonesty may not come from deliberate crookedness, but by the manipulation of contracts, perhaps entirely within legal rights, and to the hurt of the nation and the added burden for taxpayers.

If we shall have another war we must take over those industries which have first to do with war itself and again those which are necessary to comfortable support of the citizens, eliminate the profits, and make industry sacrifice as much as do the men who carry the arms and stand in the front line of trenches. This will include all production for the feeding, clothing and operation of all military and naval forces, from the farm to the making of arms. In that way we shall have removed all temptation for exacting blood money and we shall have no war millionaires at the end.

The Dinner on Tuesday

The dinner of the Chamber of Commerce to the farmers and the discussion of the problems of the hour by the state agricultural commissioner, John Jones, will be an event of importance and ought to command a large assemblage of all the membership of the chamber and others outside who are interested in the common welfare of the community. Mr. Jones is a fearless man who has a problem just now in making of the state fair something besides a mere show. He will talk about the coming dairy show and the important matter of Rock county day. It is one of the biggest events we have scheduled here for a long time and ought by all means to be met with enthusiastic support.

Maybe he was shooting from the hip but Davis was using blank cartridges.

Where We Shall Park the Car

Every city is facing an added problem in providing a place for the automobile when it comes to town at all hours of the day and night. Streets everywhere are filled, curbs are crowded and each nook and cranny has its parked auto. Traffic is made slow and dangerous and both skilled and unskilled auto drivers and strangers find difficulty in threading the maze of machines in order to get in or out. Instead of lessening the problem continues to grow more serious each year as the number of auto owners increases. It is the same everywhere. Broadhead and Whitewater are like Evansville and Edgerton and these are like Janesville and Beloit when it comes to parking. Each and others between, no matter where one goes in the United States, there is the parking question.

We find very few places that have solved the problem. A few have provided special parking places free, with an attendant who sees that the cars are parked in the proper place. It may be that we shall someday have to do this in every town, village and city and that a parking place will be as necessary a part of the city provisions as a city hall or a police force.

In this Janesville ought not to be so far behind. It is time to begin now to find a location and to be a leader in the solution of auto parking.

It is suggested that one of the reasons why laughter will be plentiful by the American people in the continued presence of the comic sections of the Sunday newspapers.

Chinese War and Trade

The Shanghai war goes on with daily destruction to American commerce and trade in China. Shanghai is the entry port for most of the imports of China and the American exporting firms have offices there. Great quantities of American products are continually going from Shanghai to the hinterland or being distributed along the coast or reshipped to other parts of the Far East. With a wall of military operations about this commercial city the American business is brought to a standstill, and even should the advancing armies win and take the city it will be a long time before it can get back to normal.

THE AMERICAN GOVERNMENT

I.—The President

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN.

The following article is a portion of a chapter from the revised and enlarged edition of the famous book, "The American Government," by Frederick J. Haskin. The Janesville Daily Gazette has secured the right to publish a series of twenty installments from this authoritative volume which shows how Uncle Sam does the people's work. Owing to the interest in the campaign these letters will be of unusual value because they portray the size and importance of the great governmental machine, the control of which is the stake for which the political parties are contending.

The president of the United States has more responsibilities and greater power than any individual in this or any other land. He is the foremost ruler of the world, and yet he can not be a tyrant, nor even a benevolent despot, for the exalted office is not his by birth nor by conquest, but by virtue of the votes of his fellow citizens. Under our form of government he who rules is in reality the servant of the people and the burden he must bear is proportionate to the authority he wields.

The dynamics of the world were set up by force and monarchies obtain their rulers by succession. In the days of the Roman Empire, many emperors were chosen by acclamation of the army and of the people, but without justifying the death or deposition of the past ruler and the election of his successor were accompanied by riots, violence, and bloodshed. The outstanding phenomenon of American political life is that the old ruler steps down and the new one is inducted into office without a ripple of popular unrest. Upon his inauguration a new president rides to the capital in the same carriage with the outgoing chief. This is typical of the peaceable acceptance of the American people to the victory of the ballot box, the world's greatest political battle, which takes place every four years.

When the American republic first was set up, European students of public affairs declared that no such system could succeed. It was freely predicted that a strong president would not, upon expiration of his term, step down for his elected successor. There have been thirty presidents of the United States and not once has there been even a suggestion of resistance by any president or by any political party to the verdict of the people.

Prior to the World War, the United States stood in almost complete isolation from international affairs. Today, it is looked to for world-wide leadership. Washington has become in many respects the capital of the world, for what the United States does and says has a profound influence in every land and on every sea. This influence is not in the hands of the president, but it is not taken from the transfer of office any of its peaceful, tranquil, and orderly character. Indeed, the very ceremony of succession has become more simple as the office has enlarged in scope. The simplest induction into office any president ever has known was that of Calvin Coolidge, following the untimely death of Warren G. Harding. In a little farmhouse, deep in the Vermont hills where once the Green Mountain Boys defended their liberties, under the beams of an old lamp, the greatest ruler of the world was sworn into office by his father, a notary public, and in the presence of only a handful of people. Yet not a single American challenged the right of Calvin Coolidge to occupy the exalted office of president.

The successful candidate for the presidency faces four years of administering the laws of the greatest nation on earth. Congress makes the nation's laws, the courts interpret them, and the president executes them. Congress may appropriate billions of dollars a year, but the president must execute the laws by which these vast sums are raised as well as those under which they are spent.

The president's mail is the largest received by the head of any government, but it is so handled as to be least burdensome to the president himself. The daily grip of letters and telegrams frequently runs as high as 2,000 or 3,000, but only about a hundred of these ever reach the president.

It is useless to mark a letter "personal" in sending it either to the president or his wife. All such letters necessarily are opened by the staff of clerks. Only letters initiated, in a way known to the clerks, by intimate personal and political friends of the president reach his hands unopened. Any president who would attempt any different or more cumbersome handling of his mail would find the task beyond human capacity.

Writing to the president has become much more general in recent years than formerly. It is said that during the Grant administration, business was so dull that the executive office staff used to play croquet on the White House lawn during the hours between the mail deliveries.

It is a fact that so many persons send gifts to the president that he frequently receives large numbers of duplicates. It was reported at the time President Taft celebrated his silver wedding anniversary that he received more than 200 silver sugar bowls and duplicates of other silver articles in proportion.

The constant stream of callers and the vast routine of business make the heaviest demands upon the time of the president. During the first three or four weeks of his administration, he receives large numbers of friends and visitors who come to congratulate him. These numbers have run as high as 20,000 to 30,000 in the first month. President Roosevelt was one of the greatest handshakers and was a pastmaster in the art.

The president is the only government official required to sign the pay roll. In the time of President Grant, the salary of the president was $4,166.66 a month. So accurate is the treasury system of bookkeeping that the salary check of the president was drawn for $4,166.66 one month and $4,166.67 for the next two months. At the end of his term it was found that there was still due the president the amount of 1 cent, so a check for that amount was drawn in his favor. It has never been cashed, but is one of the souvenirs of the heirs of the former president.

In earlier days as many as 20,000 men marched in an inaugural parade and 200,000 visitors came to Washington to witness the event. Daniel Webster said of the crowd which attended the first inauguration of Andrew Jackson that it was "a multitude, too many to be fed without a miracle, and that it seemed that the whole nation rushed to the capital." That "multitude" was computed to be about 8,000 people. The first real inaugural ball occurred when James Madison came into office. The crowd which attended was estimated at 500.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

FIRE

He would not by a careless word do injury to man, nor snatch from life one treasure more than honor truly can; And yet while passing through the woods one lovely summer day, He lit his pipe not carefully he threw the match away.

He knew the havoc fire can cause, he knew this friendly foe, He'd seen at some uncounted times its weight of loss and woe; Yet he, who would not by a word or deed his neighbor wrong, Flung to the woods a lighted match and calmly moved along.

There followed that one careless deed a forest's dismal fall; Brave homes which sheltered pioneers and held their families safe, Were swallowed by the hungry flames which only rain could stay— The ruin from one tiny match a man had tossed away.

One may recall the thoughtless word and right the careless deed, But fire no pity shows to men when once its power is freed; And many a forest lies today in desolation gray Because one careless hand had tossed a lighted match away.

HOROSCOPE

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1924.

The sun in his aspect dominates this day, according to astrology. Saturn, Mercury and Jupiter are adverse.

When the sun enters Libra today for the autumn quarter the ingresses will fall on the cusp of the twelfth house, which presages three months in historic events.

At Washington, D. C., Neptune rises and Mars sets, the signs indicating much discontent among the people.

Grave danger of disputes with other powers is suggested by the stars, but there will be much secret diplomacy that conceals delicate crises.

Loss to the government through fraud, forgery and illicit dealings is so strongly indicated that astrologers foretell more sensational investigations.

A woman is to be concerned in a national scandal in which a prominent man becomes embroiled.

Cairn of prestige for the president of the United States is prognosticated, but he must be careful of his health at this time.

Messengers of evil import regarding some branch of trade or a manufacturing interest may be received this time, if wise management is taken, but the planets are protecting section and intrigue, the seers aver.

Diplomats should be wary while this configuration prevails for they may be easily trapped.

Persons whose blood is stirred should not participate in the coming year. Those who are employed probably will be promoted.

Children born on this day probably will be clever in judgment, resistant of fraud and fond of luxuries. These subjects of Libra, if not taken, have marked mechanical ability. Girls are usually gentle, intuitive and retiring.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author.

LOW BLOOD PRESSURE
Hypertension or high blood pressure is as common now, in the town (which is the modern drinking place as nervousness or liver complaint and nearly every foot knows how it should be treated. Hypertension or low blood pressure is not so popular yet, but we newspaper doctors have turned our hand to it seriously. Give us time.

I flatter myself that readers with the high blood pressure, cholesterol have found little comfort in this column. The theme of most of my learned dissertations on that subject has been that there is no such disease as hypertension or high blood pressure. Sure, there would be my position, naturally. Almost always I begin by asserting flatly that there is no such disease as the one I am about to talk about. The idea is to sharpen the reader's interest and catch his attention—a feat which calls for much study and reflection. These days of crime and scandal, however, there is no such disease as high blood pressure or low blood pressure. It is merely a symptom or one feature of some disease. Probably low blood pressure is found in more disease conditions than high blood pressure. Still, it must be clearly understood that neither high nor low blood pressure is an entity in itself that can be intelligently or effectively treated without a diagnosis of the patient's disease. We have blood pressure gauges aplenty, both within and without the walls of the medical profession, and as Mr. Barnum so thoughtfully remarked, "..... But all I ask you to remember after the quick has finished with you is that if you must be put through your money there are regular doctors everywhere who can do the operation almost painlessly. By your blood pressure I mean those who have not yet learned to find out what ails you and not merely what you have got—in your pocket."

A patient with low blood pressure has been generally considered normal, now believed to be consistent with good health and longevity, from life insurance experience. Just how low the blood pressure may be without becoming pathologic is a question which will require more experience to settle. But measurements of the blood pressure in the arteries of healthy young adults prove that the limit formerly set as "normal" were rather too high. I mention no specific figures.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Cold Bath and Blood Pressure.
I am 37 years old. I have a blood pressure of from 140 to 150 and have taken a cold bath every morning summer and winter for years. Since I have followed this plan I seem less susceptible to colds, but have been told this practice would tend to elevate the blood pressure. Is this true?

Answer—As a general rule the morning cold bath tends to increase the blood pressure, but if Ben Cole is your physician in this instance, he knows best whether you should take cold baths or not. One of the desirable effects of the morning cold shower or plunge is a moderate increase of blood pressure in the healthy individual.

Lipoma.
What is meant by lipoma? What is usually the cause? Is it curable? (L. G.)

Answer—Lipoma is a fatty tumor. The cause is not known. It may be removed if it is annoying or unsightly. Of course surgery is the only safe way to remove a fatty tumor.

Some Old Wrinkles.
In an advertisement appearing in a magazine a face specialist claims to remove wrinkles, scars, etc., by anointing with a cream. Is this the outer skin and leaves an entire new surface. (Mary S.)

Answer—Which is, of course, the same old hokum. But then, what else could you expect from the "face specialist"? No knife means no exception surgery. It removes wrinkles or scars, and even surgery is applicable in only a minority of cases.

Oxygen Always Good.
I am a great believer in walking and jogging long distances. The suburbs of the country. Would oxygen on the foot be as good when taken all in one dose, say a six mile walk, as when taken in three smaller doses, say a mile or two before and after meals? (R. A.)

Answer—Sure, Mike, or perhaps better.

Q. It is against the law to say that an article is a patent which has not been patented. A. The Patent Office says that it is illegal for any one to advertise an article as patented, which has not been patented, until the right is obtained from the medium of the United States Patent Office. Any one found manufacturing an article as patented is liable to severe punishment by the law.

Q. Is it the fact or the need of the farmer that is medicinal? A. J. G.

Q. Both the leaves and seeds of the jimson weed have medicinal properties. The leaves are collected at the time of flowering and the entire plant is cut or pulled up and the shade. The leaves are poisonous, causing dilation of the pupil of the eye, and are used principally in asthma. For the collection of the seeds, the capsules should be taken from the plants when they are quite ripe but still of a green color. The capsules should then be dried for a few days, which opens them and the seeds can be readily shaken out. These should then be carefully dried.

Q. What is the size of an elephant's foot? A. The average size of an elephant's foot for an animal 8 feet in height is about 4 feet for the circumference. The foot is a record of an African elephant 10 feet 3 inches high with a fore foot 5 feet 1 inch in circumference.

Q. What percentage of the money received from the National League does the visiting club get? A. A. E.

Q. The ratio of the gate receipts between home and visiting clubs used to be 60-40, but at present figures since taxes and commissions are figured into the ratio is approximately 65-35.

Q. Kindly inform me why my German police dog, who is five months old, does not keep his ears up? J. T.

A. A local veterinarian says that as a rule German police dogs do not keep their ears up until after they are six months old, and some dogs never do. It is advised that you make your dog keep his ears up or twice a day with coconut oil.

Q. Who started the idea of having a mail order business? F. G. G.

The mail order idea is credited to Mr. Montgomery Ward, who inaugurated the plan in 1872.
